FREE META ADS REVIEW

Your Facebook & Instagram ads, reviewed

Prepared for Atlanta Smiles & Wellness · Atlanta, GA

DATE	BASED ON	PREPARED BY
October 2026	Public Ad Library + website	Prriyankarr, BrightPeak Ads

The short version

Atlanta Smiles & Wellness is already doing the hard part: an ad has been running steadily since June 30. The biggest gap is that the ad has no call-to-action button, so people who like it have no obvious next step. Adding a button that leads straight to your appointment request form, plus a fresh version of the ad, are simple changes that don't need a bigger budget.

What we looked at

Active ads	At least 1 active ad on Facebook and Instagram
Oldest active ad	Running since June 30 (about four months)
Call-to-action buttons	No button on the ad we saw
Where clicks go	No button, so no clear path to booking; we didn't confirm a link
Website booking	"Schedule Appointment" buttons go to your contact page, which has a request form ("Fill out your info below and we'll be in touch soon!")
Online scheduling	No real-time online booking found; requests by form, phone (404) 262-7733 or email

What we found and how to fix it

1 The ad has no call-to-action button

HIGH PRIORITY

WHAT WE SAW Your ad in Meta's Ad Library, running since June 30, shows no button such as Book Now or Learn More.

WHY IT MATTERS A button gives interested people one obvious action. It also tells Meta what you want, so it can show the ad to people more likely to request an appointment, not just people likely to scroll past.

THE FIX Add a Book Now (or Contact Us) button and point it at your contact page with the appointment request form.

2 Clicks should land on the request form, not the homepage

MEDIUM PRIORITY

WHAT WE SAW	Every "Schedule Appointment" button on your homepage goes to atlantasmiles.com/contact/, where the request form lives. There is no real-time online scheduling.
WHY IT MATTERS	Each extra page loses people, especially on a phone. Sending ad clicks straight to the form removes a step. A Meta instant form, which opens inside Facebook with the person's details filled in, removes even more.
THE FIX	Link the ad directly to atlantasmiles.com/contact/, or test a short Meta instant form (name, phone, reason for visit) alongside it.

3 The same ad has run for about four months

MEDIUM PRIORITY

WHAT WE SAW	The ad has been running since June 30.
WHY IT MATTERS	Local audiences are small, so the same people tend to see the same ad again and again. Over time fewer of them respond, which usually makes each new patient cost more.
THE FIX	Add two fresh versions, for example a real photo of the team or office and a short welcome video, and let Meta rotate them.

4 Requests that come in Friday afternoon wait until Monday

LOW PRIORITY

WHAT WE SAW	Your website lists hours of Monday to Thursday 7 AM to 5 PM and Friday 8 AM to 1 PM.
WHY IT MATTERS	Ads keep running in the evenings and on weekends. People who send a request then may book elsewhere if they don't hear back.
THE FIX	Set up an automatic reply to form and message requests that says when you'll call back, and make Monday-morning follow-up a routine.

Quick wins for this week

1. Add a Book Now button to the ad.
2. Point the ad at atlantasmiles.com/contact/ so people land on the request form.
3. Make one new version of the ad with a real photo of your team.
4. Turn on an automatic reply for after-hours requests.

What this review can't see

> This review uses only what's public: your ads in Meta's Ad Library and your website. Without access to your ad account, it can't check:
>
> - Cost per lead or sale, and which ads actually bring in customers

- Whether your Meta Pixel and Conversions API are tracking leads and purchases correctly
- Audiences, budgets, bidding and how your campaigns are structured
